

PATRICK
REYNOLDS

Wednesday 17 March,
1:30pm – 2:00pm

Patrick Reynolds is a director at Waka Kotahi, with a background in urbanism, advocacy, and the arts.

Gear Shift: delivering core infrastructure for active mode networks

Patrick will share Waka Kotahi's strategy for walking and cycling through the current programme and funding. His presentation will emphasise how this is new both in scale and ambition and include examples of specific projects.

From standalone major projects (eg SkyPath) to, smaller but potentially transformational co-delivered programmes (e.g Innovating Streets).

- outline strategic basis of Waka Kotahi's investment in these modes, GPS etc (including recent Climate Commission report), with an emphasis on value.
- how we're changing; mode shift, multimodality strategies.
- describe forward programme highlights
- illustrate past successes
- partnership with others
